Communication strategy for Wungening's successes.

The way forward

The day-to-day work Wungening does often occurs in private, through support to individuals, groups of people, or families that we work with.

This document sets out a broader strategy for our approach as an organisation to this important work. It's not only about setting a strategic direction for the next three years. It's also about creating accountability – to the community, to our staff, and to our funders and supporters.

Our path of progression has been rapid, and as we continue on this journey, we will maintain a clear sense of why – community, healing, culture. This is the Wungening way.
